The American Association for Employment in Education (AAEE) has published the 28th edition of the 2004-05 Directory of Public School Systems in the United States as a service to the education community. The 28th edition is now available for AAEE members, libraries and those seeking education employment.

Continually reference this valuable resource. Locate who to contact regarding employment in every public school system in the U.S. This indispensable directory identifies human resources and personnel administrators in more than 14,000 public school systems in the United States.

AAEE regularly updates information and address data by contacting the school systems directly and by verifying data from a variety of sources. AAEE can also create labels or disks for the development of mailing lists of public school systems.
